

134-132 BC n(135 to 133 BC) FIRST SERVILE WAR
in Sicily

Agricultural slaves were exploited by their owners, who had extreme powers and were never ~~also~~ averse to using them

134-132 BC

The Slaves in Sicily rebelled en masse, murdered their masters, and pillaged right and left. It took 3 Roman Armies to subdue them, and in the end 20,000 slaves were crucified.

134BC

Slave uprising in Sicily. Finally ended in 131BC. Slave army in Sicily had swollen to 70,000 or

134 B.C.

NUMANTIA war; Scipio sent in command.

134-104BC

JOHN HYRCANUS

Hasmoneans

134BC

In 134BC, however, Simon and two of his sons were murdered by PTOLEMY, Simon's ambitious son-in-law. His surviving son, John HYRCANUS, became high priest and ruled for 30 yrs.

134 BC

Simon and his 2 sons were murdered by PTOLEMY, (Simon's ambitious son-in-law.)

His surviving son, John Hyrcanus, became high priest and ruled for thirty years.

134BC - 104BC

Seirion's son, John Hyrcanus expanded its territory considerably and forcibly converted to Judaism many of the people who came under his control. Among them were IDUMAEANS, descendants of the Edomites of Transjordan, who had migrated west into southern Judah when the land was relatively empty following the Babylonian deportations. Herod the Great was a descendant of one of these Idumean converts.

134-132BC

Jew/Hid

War with Antiochus VII.

Jerusalem was besieged

Treaty between John Hyrcanus and Antiochus VII

134BC

Jew Hist

Treaty with Rome & Judea was renewed

134-104BC

Jan/Heil

John HYRCANUS

134BC

Jan 1st

Simon Maccabe was assassinated

134-104 BC

John HYRCAN I (134-104) son of Simon Maccabees further extended Jewish rule. He seeks alliance with Rome

134BC

With the last of the MACHABEES, Simon in 134BC, the rule of Israel
first passed on to the HASMONEAN leaders

executed or deported its 4000 citizens

134B C

SCIPIO AEMILIANUS was elected consul a second time and commissioned to deal with the town of NUMANTIA in northern Spain. This small place had defied and defeated a whole series of Roman armies and generals over a period of 50 yrs.

It lasted 8 months, and after it fell, SCIPIO destroyed the town down to the last stone and beam. He

134BC

Blazing light of a new star

134BC - 132BC

1912 Dates J-BK

1st SERVILE WARS

Rebellion of slaves against Rome.

The 1st broke out in Sicily in 134BC, led by EUNUS, a Syrian. They overran the island and defeated army after army. Order was restored in 132BC by the Consul PUBLIUS RUPILIUS